DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, it is unclear as to whether “pulverized pieces” is characterizing both the prefoamed polyimide resin as well as the heat resistant binder.

In claim 1, the metes and bounds of the “heat resistant binder” are indeterminate in scope. As presently recited, no distinction can be seen between said component and the antecedently recited polyimide resin.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102/103

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1, 3, 7-13 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over U.S. 4,980,102 (Hill).

Art Unit: 1711

Hill disclose the manufacture of foamed polyimide shaped articles comprising the steps of mixing a prefoamed polyimide foam that has been shredded into fine flakes with polyimide foam precursor followed by placing the mixtures in a mold and curing by heating.

In the examples, polyimide foam flakes (Skybond, Solimide) are mixed with polyimide precursor powder and cured by heating. The final densities of the exemplified foam products are 1.2 pounds per cubic feet (0.19 g/cm³).

It is maintained that the disclosure of the reference meets the requirements of the present claims in terms of the types of materials added. As presently recited, applicants' pulverized pre-foamed polyimide reads on the fine flakes of polyimide disclosed by the reference and the heat resistant binder reads on the polyimide precursor powder of the reference. In the alternative, the presently claimed pulverized pre-foamed polyimide reads on the reference's polyimide precursor powder and the heat resistant binder reads on the reference's fine flakes of polyimide polyimide. The onus is shifted to applicants to establish that the product of the present claims is not the same as or obvious from that set forth by the reference.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. Claims 2, 4-6 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. 4,980,102 (Hill) described hereinabove.

The disclosure of Hill is generic as regards the type of polyimide materials employed. Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to have employed any conventional polyimide foam material with the reasonable expectation of success. Absent evidence of unusual or unexpected results for the particular claimed materials, no patentability can be seen in the presently claimed subject matter.
